

RS. JUDD GIVES SELF UP AT ASYLUM

MANIACAL MURDERESS RE-TURNED TO HOSPITAL SHE ESCAPED LAST NIGHT

MADE SIX DAYS AGO

Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 31.—(UP)— A child that ran away and was frightened by the dark, Winnie Ruth Judd, maniacal murderess, returned docilely to the routine of hospital-prison life today—and the doors were locked.

Her homecoming, after six days of hiding in surrounding groves and corn fields while being searched afar, was that of a lost child, irresponsible, asking for sympathy and kindness came at about 8 p. m. last night, barefoot, bedraggled, dirty, with face and hands scratched by the branches of her shifting hide-aways.

She cowered meekly on the door of the building whence she fled last night leaving in her bed as an ingenious dummy.

Matron Mary Yeater answered her sobs, looked upon the fugitive murderess and stood transfixed, unable to speak.

"Here I am," Winnie Ruth said.
"I come back."

She was ushered ceremoniously to the office of Dr. Louis Saxe, hospital superintendent whom she accused of "persecuting me" in a note to Gov. Robert T. Jones explaining her motives for escape. He reminded the governor who rushed the hospital, threw an arm around her shoulders and assured her she would "not be persecuted," only dismissed by abrogation of her visiting privileges.

But she had been restored to her cell only a few minutes when the clinical fierceness which characterized the murder of her two women relatives and the dismemberment of her bodies nine years ago, a disciple-born fierceness which psychiatrists say has been steadily growing worse, took command of her behavior and she raged like a caged tigress.
Saxe and hospital orderlies were put to calm her. Then they gave her nourishments and put her in bed. It was not until then, when the lights went out on the ward building and her surrender and reconciliation was confirmed to the Phoenix populace, that this city went to bed.

Russian War Role May Be Clarified

PLANATION OF NEW SOVIET POLICIES EXPECTED FROM MEETING TODAY

MOSCOW, Oct. 31.—(UP)—Russian role in the war, so far a complete mystery to allied leaders—if it is to German ones as well—may be clarified at a meeting of the supreme war council today.

The meeting had been summoned hurriedly that hundreds of deputies from remote parts of the Soviet Union had been unable to get here in time.

It was assumed that Viacheslav Molotov, premier-foreign commissar, would be one of the speakers, but it was believed that Josef Stalin himself might elect to address the meeting and outline, or give some indication of Russia's new policy as regards the Baltic republics, the Bal-tians and the war in general.

Such questions as the strange cooperation of Russia and Germany in the City of Flint case, the obstacle to a desire to take Finland into its orbit, the Turkish-British-French allied aid pact, signed only after Russia had tried to negotiate a new treaty with Turkey and Russia's intentions in the Balkans, including its policy toward Rumania, remained to be explained.

In addition there remained to be explained what was meant by a Soviet-Russian-German declaration that the Communist-Nazi partners would consult on "necessary measures" if the allies refused to call off the war on Adolf Hitler's terms.

Greencastle Chapter No. 255 O. E. will meet in regular session Wednesday evening at 7:30. A program of a social will follow the regular meeting.

TARDINESS LAID TO BRIDE'S COOKING

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—(UP)— Postmaster Peter F. Tague received the following note from an employee of whom he had demanded a written explanation for being late to work three times:

"The only honest explanation that I can give you for these three slips is that I was married around the middle of last month and my bride gets lost in the middle of a lot of pots and pans every afternoon while she is attempting to prepare my dinner.

"The situation is improving—and I have been able to be on time lately. It certainly seems rank injustice that I have to eat the cooking and then be reprimanded for being late. Please bear with me."

Taft Warns Against Giving War Powers

G. O. P. PRESIDENTIAL CANDI-DATE ADDRESSES BAR ASS'N.
IN INDIANAPOLIS

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 31 (UP)— American participation in war probably would mean governmental rule exactly as under a Socialist system, U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio last night told the Indianapolis Bar Association here.

"It seems probable that the government would require absolute power to regulate every business in the United States," he said, "and do exactly what a government would do under a socialist plan of life."

At the same time he reiterated his conviction that the United States will not become involved in the European war but asserted that "we should be interested in preparedness which involves many fields besides the army and navy."

"There should be a complete plan for mobilization of those resources which have a direct relation to war, but I believe practically every object could be accomplished by permitting the continued operation of private enterprise and dealing with the question of excessive profits through greatly increased taxation," he said.
Taft, who is a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination next year, spoke on the "emergency powers of the President" and pointed out what the Chief Executive could do in relation to the armed forces, industry and commerce during a time of emergency, when war is imminent or in force.

"With the powers which exist and the general patriotic spirit of cooperation existing in war-time, I believe the government could secure all the production, transportation and other services which it could obtain under strict compulsion," he said.

"If they can be obtained through a spirit of voluntary cooperation more work will be done and more support given the war than if every normal personal status and all individual initiative are destroyed.

"Even in an army we see the development of a deadening bureaucracy. If the same thing is extended to industrial production, we are likely to find it a serious handicap to the successful prosecution of the war."

Taft scoffed at the "theory that wealthy individuals in some way may involve us in war," and said any wealthy person who does not see in war the destruction of his own material welfare "ought to be placed in an asylum."

"Existing or future laws will certainly make the President a potential dictator in time of war," he said.
The present administration has shown its intense interest in a planned economy in time of peace and its belief that the government can produce prosperity by regulation of agriculture, commerce and industry.

"I thoroughly disagree with that philosophy and I would fear that an administration dominated by it would not restrain its wishes when war power is granted. I sincerely hope that no emergency, with or without war, may ever be regarded by any official as an excuse for bringing about a permanent change in the whole economic system of the United States."

Expert Gives Corn Picker Safety Tips

PURDUE ENGINEER ADVISES THAT UNUSUAL CARE MUST BE EXERCISED

The recent death of a Putnam county young man from an accident incurred from the operation of a corn picker, along with other accidents over the state from a similar cause, have aroused the deep concern of men who have special interest in the safety of operators of such farm equipment.

Incidentally, it has been said that this death in Putnam county was due not to the fracture of neck vertebra, as was first reported, but to choking caused by the gearing of the machine drawing his outer jacket up body to his neck and so tightly around his neck that he was choked.

One man presumably well versed in the handling of such machines—R. C.
Shipman, Purdue extension engineer, makes the following suggestions for safety's sake:

"Most operators of these machines can and do operate them safely," says Shipman, "because they take precautions against the several kinds of accidents liable to result through carelessness or failure to recognize the danger points. Safe operation requires more than usual care."

As an aid in preventing similar accidents, the Purdue specialist offers five suggestions for safe operation of mechanical corn pickers.
They are:

1. Before operating a corn picker examine it carefully to see that the guards are in place at all points where needed to prevent the operator's clothes from getting caught on shafts, gears, or other moving parts.

2. The clutch which drives the power take-off should be disengaged before the operator leaves the traic-tor seat. It is almost never necessary to leave the seat with the power take-off shaft in motion, but if it is necessary, the operator should be specially careful to keep himself and his clothing clear of all moving parts.

3. The snapping rollers are built to take in corn stalks and they cannot be mechanically guarded to prevent accidents in case mittens or hands are carelessly allowed to come in contact with them. Efforts to clear clogged rollers should not be made until the power is off. It may be easier to clear them when in motion, but it is dangerous.

4. The operators clothing must be free from parts that may easily get caught in gearing or chains or wraparound shafting. Overcoat tails, unbuttoned coats, dangling shoestrings, sleeves unbuttoned at the wrist, and gauntlet gloves are all hazards that have led to accidents. A safety precaution it to wear bib overalls or overall suits that cover all other clothing.

5. A man's physical condition has much to do with his alertness and therefore an operator of power equipment needs to take good care of himself. This is a recognized requirement for safe driving of automobiles and trucks. It is dangerous to operate corn pickers and other power equipment when tired, sleepy, or sick.

CONCERN FELT FOR SAFETY OF FLINT'S CREW

SEIZED FREIGHTER FACES NEW PERILS FROM DRIFTING MINES

AMERICAN LIVES MAY BE LOST

British Sailors Assert Nazis Have Placed Bomb In Engine Room To Prevent Capture

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 (UP)— Officials evidenced grave concern today for the safety of 41 American sailors on the freighter City of Flint, headed toward Germany and facing the double jeopardy of mine-infested waters and the British blockade.

Danger to the ship and crew was heightened by storms which ripped loose Skagerak mines and set them adrift.

Should the Flint, carrying goods alleged by the German prize crew to be contraband, strike a mine, the vessel would be sunk, and American lives probably would be lost.

It was feared too that the British might attempt to seize the vessel.
In such case, the Flint might become the center of a naval battle, or it might be scuttled. British sailors from the sunken Stonegate, who were put off from Tromsø last week, asserted that the German prize crew has placed a bomb in the engine room to sink the ship if it were about to be taken by the British.

Original anxiety for the Flint's crew had been dispelled when the Soviets and Germans reported the Americans safe at Murmansk, but the voyage now under way is obviously much more dangerous than the trip to Murmansk had been. Secretary of State Hull at his press conference yesterday said that every step possible was being taken to insure the safety of the crew.

RELATIVE OF BAIN- BRIDGE RESIDENTS DIES

Funeral services for Orin E. Davis 57 year old electrical contractor and son-in-law of John Tunney of Bainbridge, will be held at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the Flanner and Buchanan mortuary in Indianapolis. Burial will be in Crown Hill cemetery.

Mr. Davis died suddenly Sunday evening at his home on Guilford Ave., in Indianapolis. Death was due to a heart attack. Mrs. Davis, was formerly Miss Lillie Tunney of Bainbridge.

German Guns Shell Far Behind Lines

TEMPORARY LULL IN RAINS
RESULTS IN INCREASED ACTIVITY

PARIS, Oct. 31.—(UP)—German big guns are shelling objectives far behind the French lines for the first time since the war started, it was disclosed today.

One village about six miles behind the front lines was shelled yesterday afternoon. It was estimated that the guns were about an equal distance behind the German lines.

French batteries retorted to the German fire.

Intensive activity by patrols was resumed on both sides in the Moselle, Saarbrücken and Blies sectors of the front, during a temporary lull in the rains.

The French took two prisoners in raids on the German front lines and the Germans took one French prisoner, it was made known.

It was asserted that a French pursuit plane shot down a German reconnaissance plane 95 miles behind the French lines, in the first big German observation flight deep inside France since the war started.

Informants said that it was believed that more German planes were shot down, but it is the policy of the general staff to announce only enemy airplane casualties which have been thoroughly authenticated.

The cessation yesterday, for one day, of the rains permitted airplane activity. Not only did the Germans fly far behind the Maginot line but the French made seven flights over German territory. It was said that the French planes returned safely.

War communiqué No. 115 of the high command said merely:
"The night was calm on the entire front."

CANCER TREATMENT EXPERIMENT NEAR END

PRYOR, Okla., Oct. 31 (UP)—The "suspended animation" of a farm woman who had been doomed by cancer ends today and an important moment arrives in the progress of a new therapy designed to combat one of the worst of human ills.

Sometime this evening in a room of Dr. Van Dolph Herrington's one-story frame hospital, the hum of a refrigerator condenser will stop and Dr. Herrington hopes, life will soon begin anew for Mrs. Homer Stout, 43, who joined him eight days ago in the first life-or-death experiment with refrigeration therapy.

He will lift from her emaciated body the "freezing blanket" of his own design under which she has lived in a strange coma since last Friday. Immediately her temperature, driven down to 85 degrees, will begin rising toward normal; and her heart and lung functions toned to inaudible whispers, resurge.

It may be days then before Dr.
Herrington can make a positive pronouncement of the experiment, one that will give new hope to or return to despair thousands upon thousands of cancer victims. But today, a few hours before its conclusion, he said it had already worked wonders for its subject.

ITALIAN STAFFS SHAKEN UP

GOOD ATTENDANCE SEEN FOR CELEBRATION TONIGHT

Tonight is the big night for the halloween celebrators to come down town and strut their stuff in the big demonstration that will be staged on the public square.

The parade of fun-makers will start at seven o'clock from the high school gymnasium. The high school band will lead the parade to the square, where a judge's stand will be erected and from which three competent judges will preside in picking the winners in the various costume classes, for which $50 will be paid in twenty cash prizes.

It is indicated that there will be a good crowd on hand, and with an ideal evening, it promises to be an affair worth attending. The public is given a cordial invitation to come down town, whether masked or not, to participate in the fun.

Alumni Chapel To Feature Short Talks

BISHOP LOWE WILL MAKE FIRST APPEARANCE ON CAM-PUS FOR TRUSTEE DINNER

A new type of chapel program for Old Gold Day will be attempted Saturday morning for returning alumni and friends of the University. Four short talks will be made in place of the usual lengthy address by one person.

Featured on the informal alumni chapel program will be three short talks by Dr. William G. Seaman, '91, Mr. Clyde C. Tull, '05, and Donald Wheaton, '33, Joe Edwards, '40 will speak in behalf of the present student body. At the Trustee dinner on Friday night Bishop Titus Lowe, new Methodist bishop of the Indianapolis area, will give the main address.

This year, in contrast to the traditional single formal address at the alumni chapel, the program will be informal and light. In addition to the three talks the presentation of the Panhel and Kappa Tau decoration cups will be featured.

Don Wheaton who will give one of the talks was an outstanding football player on the DePauw team in '33 and that year was given honorable mention in All-American rating.
He spent a year after graduation with the YMCA in Paris, France, and he is now district manager for Travelers Life Insurance Co. in Chicago.
He is a member of Delta Tau Delta and was a recipient of the Walker athletic cup.

Mr. Tull who received a Lit. D. from DePauw in 1937 is an author of poetry and drama and is editor of the Cornell College Verse, an anthology. He is head of the English department at Cornell College in Iowa, a member of Sigma Nu and Phi Beta Kappa.

Dr. Seaman for four years was president of Dakota Wesleyan University and from 1904 to 1912 was professor of philosophy at DePauw.
At present he is pastor of the Methodist church at Portsmouth, Ohio.
He is a member of Beta Theta Pi and also Phi Beta Kappa.

Bishop Lowe, who will speak at the Trustee dinner, because of his outstanding interest in educational institutions in Oregon before he was transferred to Indiana, was elected to the DePauw board, and he will make his first appearance on the campus next Friday.

Vigo County Mine Suit Brought Here

DAMAGES AND INJUNCTION BE-ING ASKED IN TRIAL BEFORE PUTNAM JURY

The suit for damages and injunction against the Black Hawk Coal Mining Corporation, near Riley, in Vigo county, brought to the Putnam Circuit court on a succession of changes of venue and which is now being tried before a jury in the Putnam court, is typical of situations which may easily arise in a coal mining region, not intended by the coal companies to be unpleasant to any one but the result of the usual methods of operation of such properties, at times.

The suit named $3,575 total compensation for damages sustained up to the time the suit was filed in Vigo county but a part of the cause for complaint—that having reference to a continued existence of the alleged nuisance—has been eased to some extent, it is said.

The original complaint described the noxious effects upon the property of the plaintiff adjoining the mining property, due principally to minerals contained in the refuse pile of the

NEUTRALITY BILL FACES HOUSE FIGHT

INITIAL ROLL-CALL TO TEST LOWER HOUSE SENTIMENT
SCHEDULED TODAY

FINAL VOTE SEEN WEDNESDAY

Representative Fish Maps Strategy To Prevent Sending Bill To Senate Conference

House opponents of President Roosevelt's neutrality program elected today to fight against sending the bill to conference with the Senate.

Their decision promised an initial roll call test of House sentiment by mid-afternoon. The lower chamber is scheduled to begin consideration of the bill immediately after it convenes at noon. Senate amendments, striking out the modified arms embargo in the House-approved bill, come up under a rules committee recommendation that the measure be sent to conference.

Rep. Hamilton Fish, R., N. Y., leader of the pro-embargo legislators, said his group had a good chance to defeat the rule. Administration leaders claimed that they would have 30 or 40 votes to spare. Both sides, however, admitted that the vote would be close.

The administration seemed to be getting the "breaks" on the first test.
The death Sunday of Rep. Chester C. Bolton, R., O., not only cost the opposition one vote, but six members, five of whom were expected to vote against the administration if present, were in Cleveland to attend his funeral.

Fish charged the rules committee's 8 to 4 decision to ask for a conference with the Senate under procedure which would not permit the House to amend the bill was "the most vicious gag we have ever had." The rules committee split along strictly party lines.

Conceding the possibility of adoption of the rules committee resolution, embargo, repeal opponents mapped out these secondary lines on which to continue the attack against the Senate bill:

1. A motion by Fish to instruct House conferees to insist upon dropping the Senate's embargo repeal section and retention of the House-approved modified arms embargo, prohibiting export of arms, ammunition, poisonous gas, liquid fire and flame throwers. This would permit a roll

Moose Lodge Holds District Meeting

TERRE HAUTE LODGE INITI-ATES CLASS OF TEN MEN INTO ORDER

The district meeting of the Moose order, in this city Sunday, was an exceptionally well-attended gathering of that nature, and also was one of the best the Moose have had.
There were representatives here from the lodges at Attica, Clinton, and Terre Haute, and visitors from Muncie, not in this district. The meeting began in the forenoon at the west Franklin street home of the Greencastle organization, which is lodge No. 1592.

Initiary work was given by the team from Terre Haute lodge, to four initiates from the local lodge and six from other lodges.

The parade was the outstanding feature of the gathering, as far as the public was concerned. It was led by a visiting Moose band in splendid uniforms, led by a young woman as drum major.

In the parade was featured a float carrying two of the oldest members of the Greencastle lodge, with a number of children, illustrating the range of the beneficence of the order.

Today's Weather and Local Temperature

Mostly overcast, some sprinkling or light rain early tonight; not quite so cold in southeast portion tonight; Wednesday generally fair, slightly colder.

NAZIS ISSUE COMMUNIQUE

BERLIN, Oct. 31 (UP)—The high command said in a communique today that four enemy airplanes had been shot down on the Western front. There was weak artillery and reconnaissance activity between the Moselle River and the Palatinate Forests, the high command said, but otherwise there were no special developments.

TODAY'S CHAPEL

Dean Helen C. Salzer, in charge of freshman chapel Tuesday at DePauw, said, "Old Gold Day this Saturday will be primarily a time to renew the good friendships made on such a friendly campus as this one." She then called on four seniors to discuss the various phases of friendship.

Miss Leta Newman of Culver listed the qualities of friendship which may be cultivated. James Erdmann of Hammond told the freshmen how to use these qualities to make good friends. Relationships between men and women were discussed by Greig Ward of Bradford, Illinois. Miss Jane Naus from South Bend spoke on the serious friendship students may make with faculty members.

SUFOCATES IN BURNING CAR

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 31.—(UP)—Virgil Lemon, 39, of Logansport, suffocated in a burning automobile early today while city firemen fought a small blaze a block away ignorant of his plight.

Lemon, an unemployed barber, had been in Indianapolis for several days looking for work and had been staying at the home of his brother, Lawrence. Police said that evidently he returned at a late hour to his brother's home last night and went to sleep in Lawrence's automobile rather than wake the family.

SABOTEURS BLAMED FOR DYNAMITING POWER LINE

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Oct. 31.—(UP)—Sheriff Walter A. Fieger today blamed saboteurs for the dynamiting of an 85-foot Indiana-Michigan high tension line tower near Arcola.

Four separate blasts at 30-second intervals blew 18 inches of structural steel from the bottom of the tower, blew out its concrete foundation and sent debris flying over a wide area, the sheriff said, but failed to upset the tower or break six cables carrying 132,000 volts of electricity.

The sheriff was unable to find a motive for the explosion.

MINE SUIT

mine, which at that time it was claimed was 500 feet across and 50 feet high. This is termed "a clump pile," in mining parlance, and contained coal, slate, and mineral substances the names of which were unknown to the plaintiff. The complaint adds, "the sulphur, coal, etc., disintegrates and forms a compound injurious to vegetation."

The complaint describes the alleged killing of corn, wheat and other vegetation on the plaintiff's land due to fumes from the injurious minerals, and also from the water which drains from the dump pile.

Even the nails in the buildings are eaten out by the fumes, and the atmosphere generally is so impregnated by the fumes that it is injurious to health, the complainant says.

CITY OF FLINT

City of Flint, in charge of its Nazi prize crew, was believed steaming down the Norwegian coast today, hugging the three-mile limit of Norwegian territorial waters, on its way to the Skagerak and the safety of a German port.

Reports from Tromsø, where the City of Flint put in yesterday, indicated that the ship might be short of supplies for its 1,050-mile voyage to the Baltic.

Well informed foreign sources at Tromsø told the United Press by telephone that when the ship visited there on its way from Murmansk, Russia, to Germany between noon and 1 p. m. yesterday Norwegian authorities refused to permit it to take on "supplies" which the prize crew had said it needed.

Informants said the ship, entering Norwegian waters, asked that the German consul be told it needed supplies. The consul, Henrik Jebens, boarded the ship and talked to the prize crew. But at the insistence of Norwegian authorities, and with the urging of a Norwegian warship, the Nazis took the ship out of port.

Officials refused to say whether the Nazi prize crew made any attempt to land any or all of the City of Flint's American crew.

call test on the identical issue on which the House voted against the administration, 214 to 173, last June 30.

2. A motion by Rep. Jesse P. Wolcott, R. Mich., to plug alleged "loopholes in the bill" on loans to belligerents. Opponents of the bill said they feared present wording of the Senate bill might permit extension of loans through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Export-Import Bank, or the stabilization fund.

3. A motion, probably by Rep. John M. Vorys, R. O., to insist on elimination of the Senate provision giving President Roosevelt authority to define "combat zones" inside which it would be unlawful for American ships or aircraft to travel.

If the resolution to send the bill to conference is defeated, the measure technically will die on the speakers table. The administration then would have no choice but to leave it there, or refer it to the House foreign affairs committee for further study.

But if that resolution is adopted, er William B. Bankhead already announced he intends to introduce these five members of the foreign affairs committee as cosponsors: chairman Sol Bloom, D. C. and Reps. Luther A. Johnson, Tex., John Kee, D., W. Va. Phil Charles A. Eaton, R. N. J.

There will be no time limit on the motions to instruct conferees, nor on the number of motions provided they are in accordance with the rather complex procedure made necessary by House rules.

Majority leader Sam Rayburn, Tex., will have the right at any time, however, to move the previous question, and if he has the vote to win him up, it will end debate for the day. But Rayburn has promised opponents he will allow debate to proceed a couple of days before making move to force the issue.

This indicated that a decision the arms embargo and other will come late Wednesday, or, probably, Thursday afternoon. Fish complained that this procedure would "lead to confusion chaos," since it provided no debate on the merits of a new bill passed since war broke in Europe.

He asserted that the administration was asking the House to pass its legislative functions and as a "rubber stamp" for the Chairman Adolph J. Sabini, Ill., of the rules committee, challenged Fish's charges and declared:

"I am fed up with the propaganda put out by the man of New York."

Before acting, the rules committee heard statements from several members who joined Fish in that the House be given the right to consider the bill as if it were new

WARDEN EMPHASIZES HUNTING REGULATIONS

Regulations covering the hunting of fur-bearing animals in Indiana were emphasized today by Herman Riley, of Greencastle, state game warden and captain of the west central Indiana district, and Game Warden Victor Walter of Putnam County.

It was pointed out that Indiana is divided into two zones for the taking of furs. U. S. road 40 divides the two zones and the fur hunting season opens in the district north of this line on November 15th and in the southern zone south of U. S. 40 on November 25th. However, persons residing south of U. S. 40 may take fur-bearing animals in the northern zone on and after Nov. 15th.

Messrs. Riley and Walter called attention to a section of the game laws regulating fur taking, which provides that before starting on a fur hunting trip, the hunter must notify the local game warden when and where he is going to hunt and on his return must notify the game warden not later than the day following of the amount and kind of fur-bearing animals taken.

The game wardens also called attention to a section of the new laws on fur taking, which provides that "it shall be unlawful for any persons to make any set or place any part of a trap, including chain, stake or drag, for taking raccoon, opossum, skunk, mink or muskrat before noon of the day preceding the first day of the open hunting season."

The game wardens also pointed out that it is unlawful to take dogs into the woods for the purpose of pursuing game or training after Nov. 1st.

PLAN TO ORGANIZE BASKETBALL LEAGUE

Bainbridge will be the scene of a meeting Friday, November 3, of all coaches and sponsors of independent basketball teams in order to form an Independent Basketball League.

The meeting is scheduled to take place at the Earl Evan's Garage in Bainbridge and it is hoped that coaches of independent teams in Fillmore, Cloverdale, Greencastle, Roschdale and Russellville will be there. Anyone else interested in forming or sponsoring a team is requested to be present at this meeting so that the league may be organized for this season.

CIRCUIT COURT NOTES

Teams Bowl At Duck Pin Alleys

SCORE HIT BY THE BANNER CLUB AS YET UNBEATEN

Two duck pin teams bowled last evening at the bowling alleys on Franklin Street and turned in scores that were comparatively low.

The Banner Club handed in a 2075 which is considerably lower than their score of last week when they bowled a total of 2389 pins for their three games of the evening. The Coca Cola team handed in a 1974 last evening.

The State Highway team finished up their play for last week on Saturday evening and at that time handed in a score of 2295. This is nearing the 2389 score handed in by The Banner Club last week.

OBITUARY

Albert Theodore Grimes the son of Dr. J. B. and Luttia Grimes was born Jan. 20, 1863. Departed this life, Sept. 21, 1939. Age 76 years, 8 months. This being the golden wedding anniversary.

In 1889 he was united in marriage to Stella Crawley, to this union were born 10 children, 3 of which preceded him in death. Those remaining to feel the loss are:

Leslie and Marguerite Walker of Kokomo, Ind.; Albert, James and Wilbur, of Greencastle, and Kenneth at home, one sister, Mrs. J. F. Cooper; one brother, John of Indianapolis, and daughter, Mrs. Frank Henderson.

To mourn his going there are 20 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Bro. Grimes was converted on his sick bed, April 6th, 1937. He experienced the marvelous change of heart and was ever ready to testify to the saving grace of a long suffering Saviour who would save all that would come to Him.

He at this time united with the Methodist Church at Maple Heights of which he was still a member.

In Memory
Dear Dads' not here he slipped away;
He near will pass this way again,
His cane is hanging on the wall,
He will not need it there at all.

Because up there the lame can walk The blind can see, the dumb can talk.

His glasses lying on the shelf He placed them there his own dear self, He'll never need them any more, He's happy on the golden shore.

His hat is hanging in its place It never more shall shade his face, He's wearing now a crown of gold Upon that head and will never grow old.

He cannot kneel in prayer today Where he delighted most to pray
But he is present with the King, And songs of victory now doth sing.

Dear Dad we weep because you're gone But are determined to follow on To that bright clime where Jesus stays And in that land of endless days

Will sing his praise for ever more.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to extend sincere thanks and appreciation for the many acts of kindness shown us by friends and neighbors at the death of my dear husband and father. We especially thank the pall bearers, singers and minister, Bro. Singhouse and the undertaker, Russell Shannon for his fine services.

William Harrison Shields
Years come and go, years that go to make the span of life. Some filled with hope and joy and happiness, others with pain and tears and sadness. Through these passing years, the sands of time have told of the finished race of another life. The "One clear call" has come again, taking from our midst a beloved father, neighbor and friend.

William Harrison Shields, son of John H. and Phoebe Garrison Shields, was born in Putnam county, Indiana, Sept. 5, 1858, and died at his home south of Coatesville, Ind., on the evening of Oct. 15, 1939, at the age of 81 years, 1 month and 10 days. He was an only son, and the last man to bear the family name of Shields. When but four years of age, his mother died and he was cared for in the home of his grandparents, until the marriage of his father to Amanda Jane Mason, who with the help of the father, reared the boy as her very own, with a loving and understanding heart. His boyhood days were spent on a farm, where he grew to young manhood, experiencing with his father the life of a farmer with all the hard work and hardships incidental to farm life in those days. His education was such as could be procured in the country schools at that time, and also at Valparaiso University.

On Oct. 1, 1884, Mr. Shields was united in marriage to Julia Ann Newman, and to them were born two daughters, Stella and Callie. Their entire married life was spent on the farm where they died. Their life together was a long and happy one, and they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Oct. 1, 1934.

On Dec. 30, 1937, their home was broken by the death of the wife and mother. Since the death of his wife Mr. Shields has lived on at the home with the daughters, who have cared for him willingly and lovingly in his declining years. Everything has been done that could add to his comfort and well being. In his last illness, the daughters have been untiring in their devotion, and to the caring of his every want and need, but they could not keep him and he slipped away to that Better Land where pain and sorrow are unknown. He leaves to mourn his passing the two daughters, Stella and Callie, an uncle, John Wesley Garrison, and many relatives and friends.

Harrison Shields was a man of honesty, integrity, and sound business judgment. For years he was a director in the First National Bank at Coatesville and also served as vice-president, and his keen business insight, and honest personality made him an asset in the community in which he lived and served. He was a member of the Friends church at Amo, Ind., where he and his wife attended services together. Neighbors and friends, which were many, will miss the kindly help and sympathy which Harrison Shields always gave in time of need. So in the passing of this man, we realize that,

"Life is real, life is earnest,
And the grave is not its goal.
Dust thou art, to dust returneth, Was not spoken of the soul."

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks and sincere appreciation to our neighbors, relatives and friends for the many kindnesses shown us during our great sorrow. We are very grateful for every tribute paid to the memory of our beloved father. We wish each friend to feel that this expression is personal.

Stella and Callie Shields

1—Extra deep, highly tempered premier wire, full double cone springs.

2—Cross top helical formation, which permits individual spring action.

3—Stabilizer wires, which prevent the springs from buckling.
4—Silver finish.

5—Chains and helical springs, which prevent the construction from shifting or side-swaying.

6—Full action hinge at the front, linking with great strength the steel supporting band to the frame, and providing flexibility.

7—Extra heavy frames, finished ebony on the inside; curved wooden cross supports on the davenport; and extra heavy twill top covering in place of the customary loosely woven burlap.

8—Coil springs securely crimped into the flat steel supporting band. No stitching twice here to stretch, break or wear out.

9—Wide flat steel supporting band, making for extra durability and flexibility, and which carry all of the load.

10—Helicals at the end of the steel supporting bands, assuring a soft, cloud-like floating effect.
